- The Macro Recorder allows a user to create and edit macros, which are recorded phrases or sequences of actions that can be performed with the mouse. For example, users may enter frequently used sequences of actions for web browsing, or fill in online forms. The Macros are easily changed, saved and easily shared with other users. - A macro is a recording of several mouse clicks that can be played back with the mouse. The macro can be recorded on a blank screen, an open application or in an open document. - Each macro has three states: Free, Record, and Active. The Free state of the macro is ready for recording. The Record state puts the mouse cursor in the recording area, and the Active state lets the user play back the recorded macro. - While the mouse is in the recording area, recording can be started by clicking the Record button, which will start the recording process. While the macro is recording, the Record button will be in the red state, while the Stop and Pause buttons will be in the blue state. - Once the recording process is completed, the macro can be saved as a macro file and loaded into the Macro window. - Any mouse actions are recorded as sequences of mouse clicks and mouse positions. The mouse positions are recorded as coordinates that can be viewed in the Macro window. - The MouseKeys feature makes it easy to navigate through the macro file by using special keyboard combinations to activate the macro. For example, if a macro is opened in the Macro window, then users can use the Arrow Up and Arrow Down keys to scroll through the macros. - The Macro file is in the XLS format and can be exported to other formats such as PPT or DOC. - All the recorded mouse clicks, mouse positions and keyboard keystrokes are stored in the macro file. If the macro file is not erased or corrupted, then it can be used to perform the same operations again. - The macro file can be shared with other users. For example, the macro may be shared through email, printed, or exported to a PC using a driver. - The macro file can also be shared directly between computers. For example, a macro can be imported into the main computer by using the Import button on the Macros window. This can be useful if several users share one computer and they all have the macro files on their own computers. Keystrokes: - Any keystroke can be recorded using the Macro Recorder. The recorder will automatically detect the 81e310abbf

"I did not collude with Russia, I did not conspire with Russia," Page told The Hill's John Solomon. A transcript of Solomon's conversation with Page was obtained by The Daily Caller, which published excerpts of the exchange Wednesday. In the conversation, Page expressed concerns about being targeted by the Justice Department's Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (FISA) request as a Russian spy. Solomon asked Page, "Do you think that the DOJ and FBI made the case that you were a Russian agent because they know you were not a Russian agent?"
